SUBJECT: Gun-Stat Briefing

• Making Progress

- Gun Arrests. Though gun violence activity remains at an elevated level, gun arrests have increased significantly since Commissioner Davis was installed in July. Gun arrests are on pace to increase on a year over year basis for a sixth consecutive month in November, indicating that heightened efforts are being undertaken by Baltimore Police to reign in shootings.

- Needs Improvement

- GORA Home Visits. Passed in Baltimore in 2007, the Gun Offenders Registry Act (GORA) requires defendants convicted of specified gun crimes to register their addresses and permits law enforcement to verify addresses through home visits every 6 months. Though home visits in 2015 have already exceeded 2014 levels and may approach 2013 levels, visits have dropped in recent months due to resource constraints. Baltimore Police have indicated that it will cross-reference its GORA registry with other priority target lists to ensure that home visits are being conducted for high profile suspects where possible.
